

Aerial photographs of the appeal site:

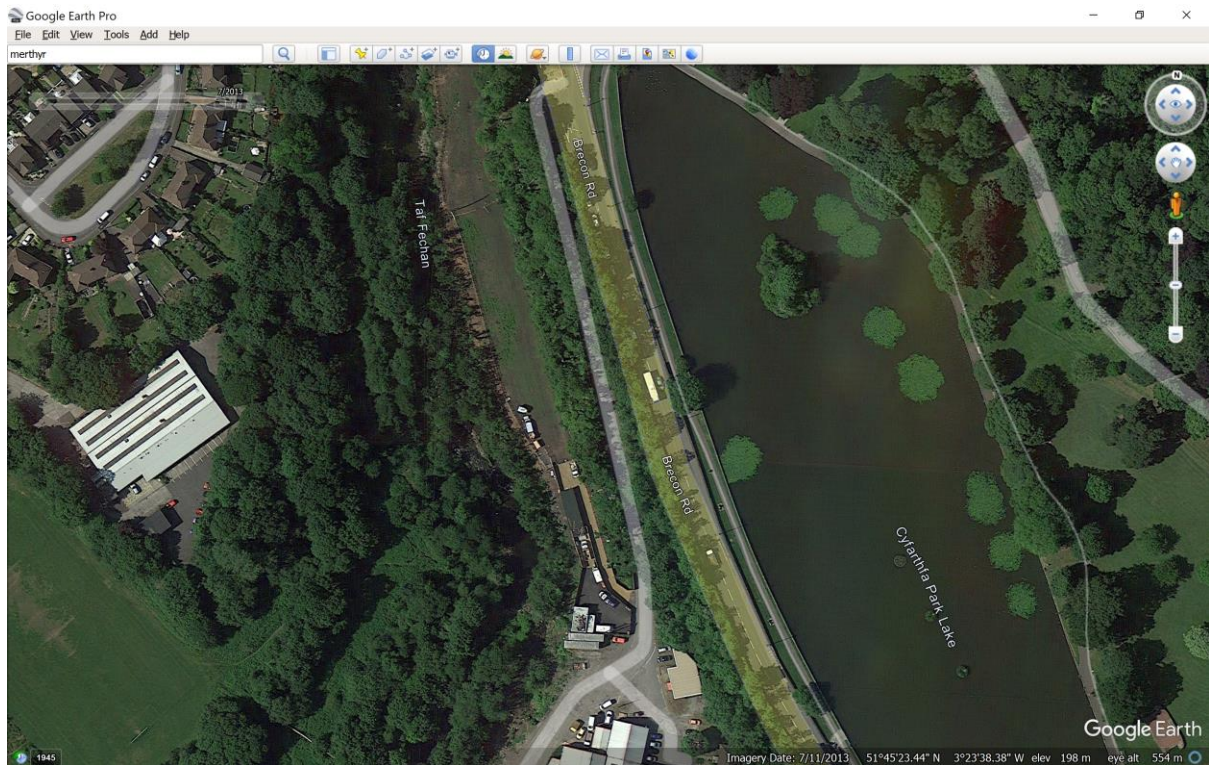

Below in 2001 – The site largely comprised an area of grassland

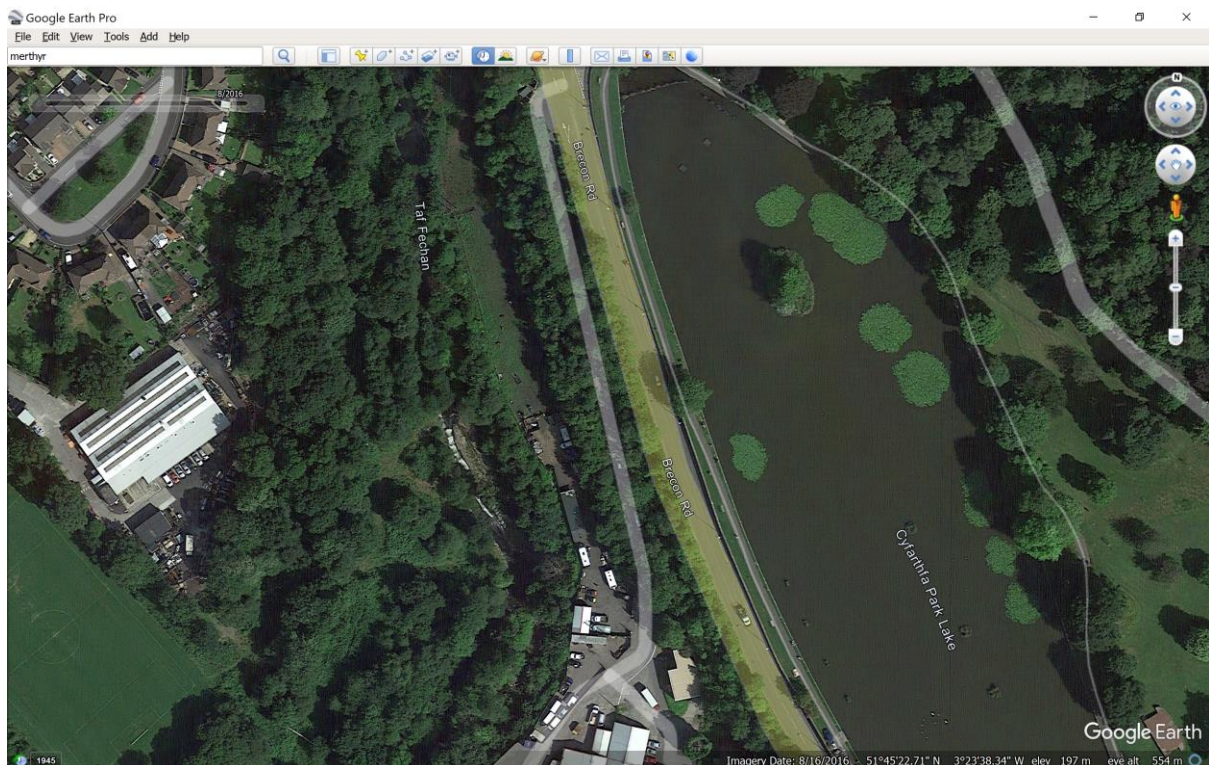

Below in 2010 – A small compound was granted permission retrospectively.

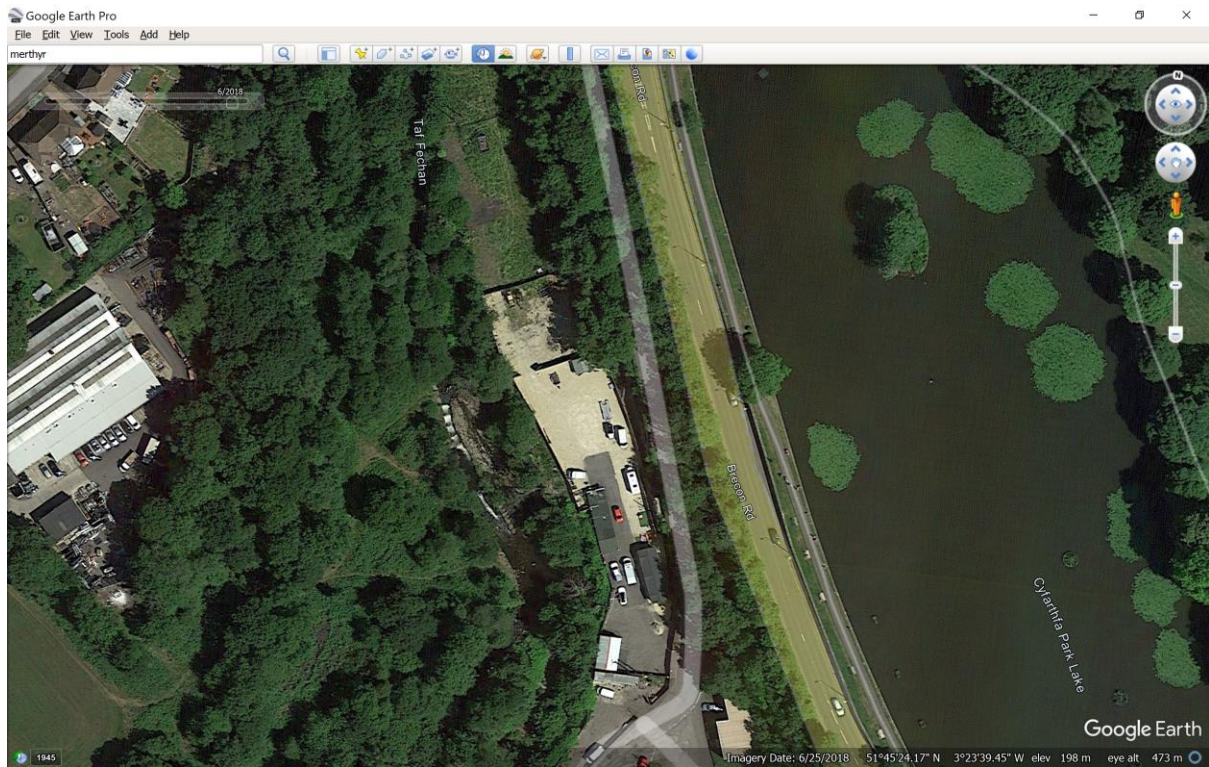

Below in 2013 – Permission was granted retrospectively for a storage building (B8 Use) and stable block with associated hardstanding.

Below in 2016 – There was gradual encroachment to the north. It is noted that the trees and vegetation along the western edge of the site is well established.

Below in 2018 – The embankment and trees along the eastern boundary were removed and a considerable area of hardstanding enclosed by close boarded fencing was introduced.

Below in 2023 – It can be seen that the area of hardstanding has been reduced with land to the north remaining disturbed.
