

Artwork depicts a stylised coffee landscape with high altitude peaks in the distance and drying patio in the foreground.

The application of laser cut steel creates a further texture to the building and contrast between the cladding.